Background

AMTRAK SYSTEM

Created by an act of Congress, Amtrak is a publicly supported intercity passenger railroad operated and managed as a for-profit corporation. It began operations on May 1, 1971. Amtrak's mission is to provide intercity passenger rail service with superior safety, customer service and financial excellence.

Amtrak is the nation's only high-speed intercity passenger rail provider and operates more than 300 trains each day on 21,300 miles (34,000 km) of track with select segments having top operating speeds of 150 mph (240 km/h). Amtrak trains services connect more than 500 destinations in 46 states, the District of Columbia, and three Canadian provinces. In FY 2019, Amtrak carried 32.5 million passengers, representing the eighth straight year in which ridership has exceeded 30 million. On an average day, nearly 89,100 passengers ride Amtrak trains. In FY 2019, Amtrak had $3.5 billion in revenue while employing more than 18,600 people. Its headquarters is in Washington, DC.

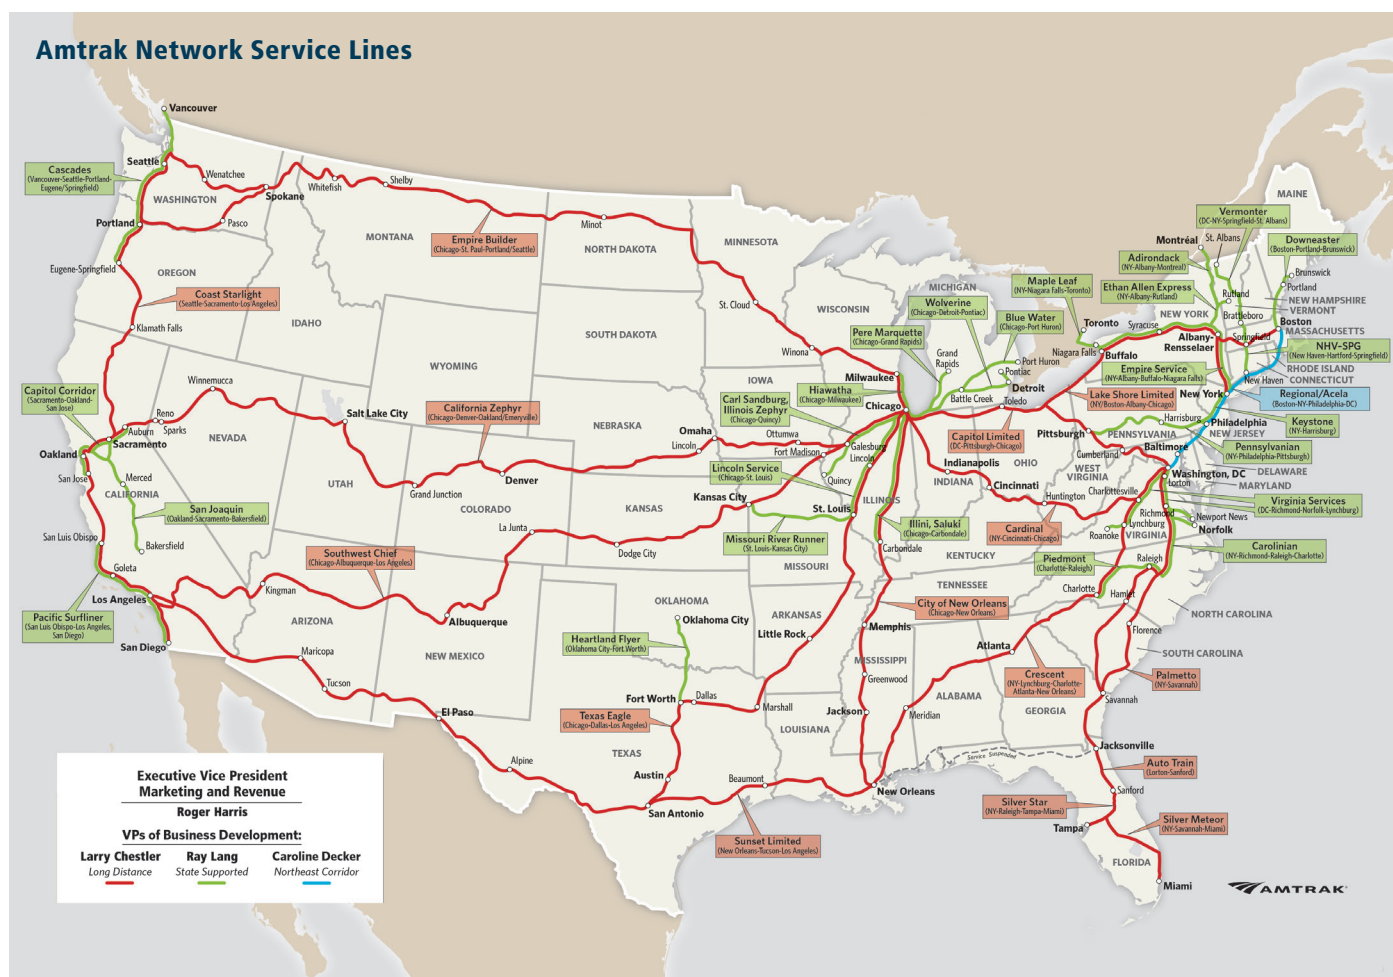

Amtrak is investing in critical projects that will enhance the passenger experience, sustain the national passenger network, provide much-needed additional capacity and improve reliability and safety. Amtrak is taking steps to improve financial performance and accountability with new cost controls, efficiency improvements and debt reduction measures.

COVID-19

As of the writing of this document, Amtrak is currently impacted by the global pandemic, COVID-19 (Coronavirus). Amtrak's ridership has drastically declined due to travel restrictions, executive shelter-at-home orders and a reluctance of the population to travel amidst fear of the spread of the virus. In reaction to low-level of ridership and by extension, revenue, Amtrak curtailed passenger train and bus operations beginning in March 2020.

The lasting impact of the virus on Amtrak's ridership, revenue, route network and service frequency cannot be accurately forecasted at this time and as such, the stations and associated schedules included in the ADA Strategic Plan are subject to change based upon continuing impacts and possibly permanent impacts from COVID-19.

Amtrak plays an important role in the national transportation network by providing travelers with a safe, efficient and reliable alternative to pervasive highway and airline congestion.

AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT OF 1990 (ADA)

On July 26th, 1990, the President of the United States signed into law the ADA. The ADA is a civil rights law that prohibits discrimination on the basis of disability in employment and in public services, including public transportation and public accommodations. The intent of the law is to make all aspects of American society accessible to individuals with a disability. The ADA is an equal opportunity law for people with disabilities.

Section 12162(e) of the ADA requires that all stations in the intercity rail transportation system be made accessible to and usable by individuals with a disability. Amtrak is working hard to implement and pursue its ADA Stations Program to bring the stations it serves and for which it has ADA responsibility into compliance with ADA requirements in the most timely, integrated and efficient way possible. The U.S. Congress and Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) have directed that a portion of Amtrak's Northeast Corridor and National Network Grants be used to further the goals of the Program. This document outlines the tasks which Amtrak plans to accomplish from FY 2021–FY 2026.

AMTRAK'S ADA RESPONSIBILITY

Amtrak trains serve a total of 525 stations in 46 states, the District of Columbia and three Canadian provinces (includes nine Canadian stations served). The total number of stations in the Amtrak system required to be made accessible under the ADA legislation is 516 stations.

Station ADA Responsibility

142

Stations where Amtrak has Sole ADA Responsibility

244

Stations where Amtrak has Shared ADA Responsibility

130

Stations where Amtrak has No ADA Responsibility

ADA responsibility for the various station components (i.e., structure, platform and parking) is being determined by Amtrak. Amtrak will ensure that the station components for which it has ADA responsibility are made ADA compliant. Ownership and responsibility are determined using a "separate component" approach. This approach involves splitting each station into three distinct components: station structure, platform, and parking. Each component is analyzed as a separate "station" for purposes of determining first, ownership and second, ADA responsibility.

Determination of responsibility for ADA compliance of each station component is a two-step process. First, Amtrak determines ownership of each station component and applies the rules set forth in Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 37.49 which assigns ADA responsibility based on ownership. (For example, if more than 50% of a station component is owned by a public entity, then that public entity has 100% of the ADA responsibility for that component. If more than 50% of a station component is owned by a private entity, then Amtrak and the commuter railroads that serve that station have 100% of the ADA responsibility for that component; responsibility amongst the railroads is proportional based on passenger boardings.) Next, Amtrak reviews its agreements with third parties (e.g., landlords, tenants, freight railroads) to determine if there are any contractual terms that require such third parties to ensure ADA compliance of the station components. (See Appendix A for an overview of ownership and ADA responsibility of all station components.)

As of May 8, 2020¹, ADA responsibility for the 516 stations required to meet the ADA accessibility requirements are detailed at right. Amtrak has either sole or shared ADA responsibility at 386 stations. These 386 stations are included in the ADA Stations Program.

1. This breakdown may change as property surveys are completed, locations and services change, and new information is produced. Changes since last year's report: Provo, UT (PRO) changed from shared ADA responsibility to no ADA responsibility; Creston, IA (CRN) and Macomb, IL (MAC) changed from sole ADA responsibility to shared ADA responsibility.

HISTORICAL PERFORMANCE

Amtrak initiated the ADA Stations Program in 2009 as a comprehensive program to make its stations ADA compliant and accessible. From 2009 through the end of Fiscal Year 2018, Amtrak has installed 192 station based mobile lifts, constructed new low level platforms with compliant detectable warnings at 31 stations, constructed new level boarding platforms with compliant detectable warnings at 2 stations, installed new detectable warnings on existing platforms at an additional 38 stations, made accessible parking improvements at 132 stations, made accessible restroom improvements at 49 stations, installed accessible station signage at 206 stations, installed Passenger Information Display Systems (PIDS) at 32 stations, and made numerous other ADA improvements at stations across the country.

The chart below reflects the stations that have been completed to date and the stations to be completed by the end of this strategic plan period (FY 2021 through FY 2026).

Strategic Plan

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

The goal and objective of the ADA Stations Program is to bring all stations served by Amtrak, for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility, into compliance with the ADA.

To accomplish this goal, Amtrak, in coordination with the FRA, has developed the ADA priorities and work necessary to bring stations with existing accessibility deficiencies into compliance with the ADA. The five-year strategic plan will be used to bring stations with known or potential accessibility deficiencies in certain key areas into compliance with the ADA within the five-year planned period. Stations that are listed as the highest priority include: 1) stations with known or potential train access deficiencies, 2) stations with known or potential Passenger Information Display Systems (PIDS) deficiencies, and 3) stations with known or potential station access and/or key amenity deficiencies.

Additional priorities and initiatives include adding level boarding platforms, where required by law, and pursuing more integrated boarding solutions (based on Amtrak's Platform Design Policy) where level boarding is not required by law due to the presence of existing freight traffic adjacent to the platform. Platform projects, which may include level boarding platform projects and low-level platform projects, will be funded after priorities one (1) through three (3) listed previously have been funded and advanced to the greatest extent possible and as remaining budget is available.

At this point in the Program, all stations identified in the top three priorities have either been completed or are being actively advanced. Much of the work that remains to be completed includes platform improvements. These remaining platform projects are being advanced strategically based on geographic proximity to other projects and on the labor support capabilities of host railroads.

1. Addressing stations with known or potential train access deficiencies 2 (priority)

Amtrak has identified twenty-four (24) stations in its national system for which Amtrak had ADA responsibility for the platform with known or potential significant platform and/or path of travel deficiencies. These stations are not accessible to persons who use wheeled mobility devices and such persons may have significant difficulties when attempting to board/de-board a train at these stations.

By the end of fiscal year 2026, Amtrak plans to eliminate such train access deficiencies at all 24 stations where Amtrak has ADA responsibility. See Appendix C for a list of stations.

2. Addressing stations with known or potential PIDS deficiencies (priority)

Amtrak has identified 120 stations in its national system for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility for PIDS with known or potential PIDS deficiencies. Amtrak had previously identified 80 stations with known or potential PIDS deficiencies. This list includes additional stations that have been identified as well as state supported projects where Amtrak has installed PIDS. A number of these stations have an audible public address (PA) system but do not have a visual messaging component that communicates the audible information. In addition, there are stations with legacy PIDS that have both PA and electronic signage but are not ADA compliant because there is no visual message functionality that would enable synchronized dual-mode announcements.

By the end of fiscal year 2022, Amtrak plans to eliminate all such known or potential PIDS deficiencies at stations for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility. See Appendix C for a list of stations.

3. Addressing stations with known or potential station access and/or key amenity deficiencies² (priority)

Amtrak originally identified 47 stations in its national system for which Amtrak had ADA responsibility for the station building that have known or potential access (entrance/exit) deficiencies and/or deficiencies inside the station building with key amenities such as restrooms and ticket counters.

As of FY 2019, Amtrak has addressed all the station access and/or key amenity deficiencies identified at the 47 stations. See Appendix C for a list of stations.

4. Addressing stations that require level boarding once altered (priority)

Amtrak has identified 24 stations in the Amtrak system for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility for the platform where level boarding must be provided, following alteration, per the 2011 USDOT Level Boarding Rule (49 CFR Part 37). As part of the five-year strategic plan, Amtrak plans to continue to advance level boarding at those stations where Amtrak has ADA responsibility for the platform.

5. Addressing stations that are candidates for more integrated boarding solutions (initiative)

As part of the Accessible Boarding Technologies Program, Amtrak designed and constructed a prototype design solution in Ann Arbor, MI that provides level boarding, while still maintaining freight railroads' clearance requirements. The design solution, referred to as the Shuttle Platform, has been in service since September 2015.

An analysis of the field test data was recently completed. Based on the findings, the Shuttle Platform has shown to benefit to all passengers by improving the customer experience and reduction in overall dwell time. However, one of the challenges of the Shuttle Platform has been the high monitoring and maintenance costs incurred.

The Shuttle Platform will be an option considered in the basis of design phase. If it is determined that a location is a candidate, then a site-specific analysis and business case will be developed and presented to the Amtrak Executive Oversight Committee for review and approval prior to proceeding with the design.

2. An ADA assessment has not been performed at all locations in the Program. As ADA assessments are completed, additional information may be learned that may identify additional stations that have such deficiencies.

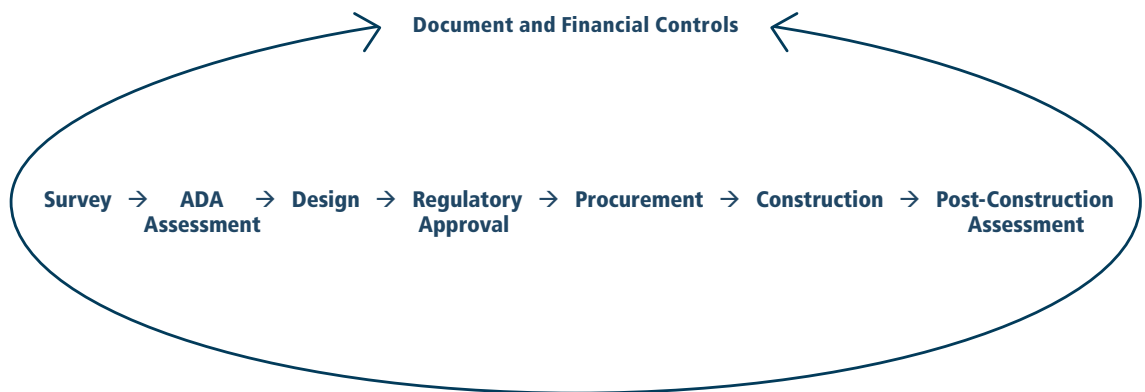

Implementation Plan

PROGRAM IMPLEMENTATION TEAM

The ADA Stations Program collaborates with many internal Amtrak departments and external agencies and stakeholders to implement the Program. The ADA Stations Program supports a management structure that oversees the following areas: Survey, ADA Assessment, Design, Regulatory Approvals, Procurement, Construction, Post-Construction Assessment and Document and Financial Control. Stations are advanced through the Amtrak internal stations development process as follows.

CONSECUTIVE PROCESS MODEL

The consecutive process model requires each step listed below to be completed in sequential order before the next step in the process can be advanced and completed. Therefore, each step in the process is part of the critical path for the overall process. Rather than identifying the choke point of a given process and applying additional resources and/or oversight to the choke point to ensure success, each step in the consecutive process model becomes the most important step in the process.

Implementation of station projects where Amtrak has the sole ADA responsibility is limited by available Amtrak labor and funding. Due to limited funding, Amtrak has developed the aforementioned program priorities to advance work at stations that have existing accessibility deficiencies so that those stations can be brought into compliance with the ADA. Implementation of station projects where the ADA responsibility is shared between Amtrak and third-party entities can be more complex and pose significant challenges and higher risk, especially at stations where ridership of a Regional Transit Authority (RTA) is high in proportion to Amtrak ridership. At stations where Amtrak has a shared ADA responsibility with an RTA, the percentage of ADA responsibility is typically calculated based on the percentage of ridership at a given station. In most cases, the percentage of ridership for an RTA will be far greater than the percentage of ridership for Amtrak services—daily commuting versus intercity rail services. As a result, when the ridership percentage is higher for a given RTA, the percentage of cost for the ADA responsibility will be higher for the RTA than for Amtrak and funding issues and agreements may become an additional hurdle for the ADA Stations Program to navigate and overcome.

PROGRAM TASKS

1. Surveys. Perform a property survey and/or conduct title and public record data searches, to document property lines and ownership of the station and surrounding area to assist in the determination of Amtrak's legal responsibilities under the ADA. Property ownership information is also used to determine who owns the property upon which improvements need to be constructed and from whom consent will be required.

2. ADA Assessments³. Perform a full ADA assessment of those portions of the station used by Amtrak passengers for which Amtrak has sole or shared responsibility. Deliverable for each station is an assessment report documenting ADA noncompliance and accessibility deficiencies found at each location. (Amtrak may also conduct ADA assessments of those portions of a station used by Amtrak passengers for which it does not have ADA responsibility, consistent with criteria established by Amtrak's ADA Executive Oversight Committee.)

3. Design. Perform design activities to address the non-compliant elements for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility, as identified in the ADA assessment. (In limited situations, Amtrak may also perform design activities for which third parties have ADA responsibility, consistent with criteria established by Amtrak's ADA Executive Oversight Committee.)

4. Regulatory Approvals. Distribute design documents to regulatory agencies, such as the State Historic Preservation Offices (SHPOs), to receive approval to proceed with improvements outlined in the design.

5. Procurement. Advertise issued for construction (IFC) design packages and solicit services from qualified contractors to perform the construction work identified in the design documents.

6. Construction. Perform construction necessary to ensure that non-compliant elements (for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility) are made ADA compliant. (In limited situations, Amtrak may also perform construction activities for which third parties have ADA responsibility, consistent with criteria established by Amtrak's ADA Executive Oversight Committee.)

7. Post-Construction Assessment. Perform assessment of those elements that were altered or constructed as part of the project to ensure that the elements are compliant with the ADA.

8. Deployment of PIDS. Integrated audio-visual messaging that includes train, boarding and general passenger information and emergency announcements at those stations for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility. (In limited situations, Amtrak may also perform installation activities for which third parties have ADA responsibility, consistent with criteria established by Amtrak's ADA Executive Oversight Committee.)

9. Accessible Boarding Technologies Program (ABT). Focusing on new compliant board/de-board solutions, make improvements to existing onboard ramps and station bridge plates. Design and construct setback modular platforms with integrated shuttle platform solution that provide a level boarding experience at stations with freight traffic adjacent to a platform.

3. At the start of the program through the fall of 2013 the ADA Stations Program used an assessment tool that was based on 1991 ADA Accessibility Guidelines (ADAAG). Stations that were assessed using this tool and have yet to be designed will be reevaluated during design phase using the new tool that is based on the 2006 Department of Transportation Accessibility Standards (DOTAS).

IMPLEMENTATION SCHEDULE

The table below outlines the progress the Program has made to date and the tasks that will be performed each year of this strategic plan. It should be noted that in previous years platform alterations that may have been required were deferred in some instances. As a result, some stations may require additional design and construction work to bring the platform(s) into compliance with the ADA.

KEY PERFORMANCE METRICS

The key performance metric that will be used to measure progress over the next five years will be the number of stations with known or potential deficiencies that have been corrected for each of the top three priorities listed herein.

Out of the three hundred eighty-six (386) stations where Amtrak has some type of ADA responsibility Amtrak has identified twenty-four (24) stations with known or potential train access deficiencies. Five (5) such stations have been completed to date. Amtrak has identified one hundred twenty (120) stations in its national system for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility for PIDS with known or potential PIDS deficiencies. Seventy-eight (78) such stations have been completed to date. Out of the three hundred eighty-six (386) stations where Amtrak has some type of ADA responsibility Amtrak has identified forty-seven (47) stations with known or potential station access and/or key amenity deficiencies. All forty-seven (47) such stations have been completed to date.

Key performance metrics will be based on removing all the known or potential deficiencies for the top three priorities by the conclusion of the five-year strategic plan period. The table below outlines the percentage of stations in the top three priorities that will be advanced during each fiscal year of the five-year plan in order to reach the goals listed above.

Key Performance Metric Completion Schedule

	Completed to Date	FY 2021	FY 2022	FY 2023	FY 2024	FY 2025	FY 2026
Train Access Deficiencies	21%	75%	79%	79%	88%	92%	100%
PIDS Deficiencies	65%	88%	100%	-	-	-	-
Station Access/Amenity Deficiencies	100%	-	-	-	-	-	-

Progress will also be measured based on the status of stations that are required to complete the multiple steps of the development process (i.e., property survey, ADA assessment, design, construction, post-construction assessment) and based on the number of stations at which Amtrak's ADA responsibility has been completed. As of the date of this report, Amtrak has completed all its ADA responsibility at a total of 58 stations.

Summary

In summary, the key performance metrics to be reported during the plan implementation include:

- The percentage of stations (out of the total number of stations for which Amtrak has some type of ADA responsibility) at which Amtrak's ADA responsibility has been completed.
- The percentage of stations (out of the total number of stations with known or potential train access deficiencies) at which all passengers, including passengers with a disability, have access to board/alight from the train.
- The percentage of stations (out of the total number of stations with known or potential PIDS deficiencies) at which all passengers, including passengers with a disability, have access to accessible station and/or platform announcements.
- The percentage of stations (out of the total number of stations with known or potential station access/key amenity deficiencies) at which all passengers, including passengers with a disability, have access to the station buildings and key amenities offered at each station (restrooms, ticket counters, etc.).
- Number of level boarding platforms that are added to the system; priority No. 1, 48-inch above top of rail (ATR) platform stations (elimination of station based mobile lifts), priority No. 2, 15-inch ATR platforms.
- Number of re-designed bridge plates deployed; number of re-designed onboard ramps deployed.
